Army Blue Cloth Suits,

WORTH $15 FOR $10.

A LARGE woolen cloth manufacturer in the East, on account of a strike, failed to deliver on time a large quantity of extra heavy Blue Army Cloth for the United States Army, and had the entire lot of many thousand yards thrown on his hands, and being in need of ready money, he accepted an offer of from a large clothing manufacturer for the entire lot. We have just received about seventy-five Men's Suits made of this cloth and are offering them at the remarkably low price of $10.00.

Sizes 35-44.

We also are having some of the same cloth made into Men's Overcoats and will receive them in about 10 days. This is truly and opportunity to buy winter clothing that can hardly be worn out, that will shed water like a rubber coat and is as heavy and warm as cloth can be made, and in this time of high prices for all woolen goods, it makes it all the greater bargain.

United States Army Shoes.

Don't forget the U. S. Army Shoes we are selling at $2.50. Six hundred pairs were sold in one week.

SPEAKING BY CANDIDATES.

Several Democratic Nominees Address Voters at the Court House.

CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS.

Republicans Joined in Applauding the Speakers who Made it Hot For the Ring.

A fairly good crowd attended the speaking at the court house Tuesday night, in spite of the rain and the other attractions in the city. Messrs. David Smith, candidate for sheriff; Herman Southall, for representative; Jno. C. Duffy, for attorney, and Judge Polk Cansler for County Judge made speeches. All were confident of success and gave cogent reasons for the 'bright prospects.'

Mr. Duffy made the longest address, setting forth the issues of the campaign in detail. His arraignment of the ring for the misappropriation of the tax penalties by the sheriff was severe and he promised to bring a suit on the sheriff's bond to recover the amount estimated at $8,000 in four years, in the event of his election. He brought a new charge against the present sheriff, that he has made no monthly reports to the county clerk of taxes collected since June 1903, although the law fixes a penalty of $100 for each failure to make a report every month. He charged that the monetary transactions of the county were being purposely conceded by the "power behind the throne" of the present sheriff and the next sheriff, should the ring elect its candidate.

Frequent applause greeted all of the speakers, which was joined in by some of the Republican voters present.

STANLEY'S ELOQUENCE

Charmed The Tobacco Men At The Recent Meeting.

ELLIS' HIGH PRAISE

Declares Stanley Can Be Congressman as Long as He Cares to Serve.

Congressman A. O. Stanley's speech at the Owensboro tobacco convention, was one of the leading features of the meeting. The young Congressman was introduced by Capt. W. T. Ellis.

Bouquet For Stanley.

In his introductory address Capt. Ellis paid an eloquent tribute to Mr. Stanley and his remarks received frantic applause. He said that Stanley was the greatest congressman the Second District has ever had; that he had done more on behalf of the farmers than any man who had served in the national congress from Kentucky for many years. Capt. Ellis further said that Stanley is the Second District's present congressman, its next congressman, and its congressman for a life time if he chooses. The Messenger in reporting the speech said:

The speech delivered by the Hon. A. O. Stanley was one of the most eloquent ever heard in Owensboro. For nearly an hour he kept the hundreds of people, delegates and others, assembled in the circuit court room in a state of almost breathless attention. So powerful was his influence the crowd forgot to cheer, and his most fervid periods were rounded out with absolute silence on the part of his auditors. Congressman Stanley has made many fine speeches in Owensboro, but his effort of Friday was universally conceded to be his masterpiece.

His audience was composed of the people for whom he has expended his most earnest efforts in congress and, evidently, he gained a new inspiration. Any attempt at a summary of his address necessarily falls far short of giving an adequate idea of what it really was.

Congressman Stanley declared that the thing which he shall deem his principal honor to his dying day is the fact that he stood with a band of 200 farmers less than three years ago, which band has now grown to 30,000 members and which is controlling the price of the principal product over a large section of the tobacco belt, a band that bids defiance to the machinations of a merciless combine. "I want it written on my shield in life," said the speaker, "and I want it inscribed on my tomb in death."

Stanley Introduces Gaines.

At this same meeting Congressman Stanley introduced Hon. John Wesley Gaines as follows:

"My good friends and fellow citizens," said Mr. Stanley, "you are ushered into the attitude of the man who went after a 'possum and caught a bear.' Continuing he said: "Thank you for this spontaneous outburst of enthusiasm and hearty welcome to me. But there is one whose shoe latches I am not worthy to tie—the Hon. John Wesley Gaines, the pioneer in this great fight. What you need are honest men more than gifted men in public life—men who will not sell their souls. I want to say to you that John Wesley Gaines is as incorruptible as a sunbeam and as stainless as a star. I have the honor of introducing the farmers' friend and champion—the Hon. John Wesley Gaines."

Wounds, Bruises and Burns.

By applying an antiseptic dressing to wounds, bruises, burns and injuries before inflammation sets in, they may be healed without maturation and in about one-third the time required by the old treatment. This is the greatest discovery and triumph of modern surgery. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is an antiseptic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness and prevents any danger of blood poisoning. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering such injuries entail. For sale by L. L. Elgin and Anderson & Fowler, the up to date druggists at Hopkinsville.

The U. S. produced 98 per cent of the world's output of gas.

Nothing to Fear.

The question of injurious substance in medicines which has been agitating minds of many people, does not concern those who use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mothers need have no hesitancy in continuing to give it to their little ones, as it contains absolutely nothing injurious. This remedy is not only perfectly safe to give small children, but is a medicine of great worth and merit. It has a world wide reputation for its cures of coughs, colds and croup and can always be relied upon. For sale by L. L. Elgin and Anderson & Fowler, the up to date druggists at Hopkinsville.

THE UPLAND MEADOW.

With center, gallop and head-on, we plunge through the sun-bathed air. The scent of grass is on our nostrils, the wind at play in our hair. The clouds are drifting before us, the shadows chase over the plain. Then on, and up to the corner, and back to the fence again.

With center, gallop and head-on, in proof that the day is pure. We kick up the dust behind us, we stop and look back at the flowers. We look far down to the valley and sigh for folk we have loved and lost.

Then on—a race to the corner, and back to the stop a jerk! Oh, limbs grown thin in the gallop, we browse where the clover grows. We steep ourselves in its sweetness, in beauty take our rest.

The crack of whip and the sharp command—bridle, check and rein. Are far away. We are masters now. Ah, what is life to gain!

They can't know life who just labor, ne'er shaking the traces free. Nor reaching upland meadows, with broad vision to see. How crammed the shadowy valley where the roads are narrow, while here, in beauty take our rest, in where sun and stars are near.

Then on, and up to the corner, and back to the fence again! The clouds are drifting before us, the shadows are in our hair. With center, gallop and head-on, we plunge through the sun-bathed air. The scent of grass is on our nostrils, the wind at play in our hair.

THE "UNSEEN" VOICE

By RHEA HAYNE

THE name of Chester Sylva was as outlandish as possible when it was applied to old John Short's daughter. She was as white as the sheet of the night and uncouth as one could well be. She was popular among the white folk because of her persistence in working this fact rather than the small measure of respect her own race cherished for her. Chester Sylva worked as well on Saturday as any other day, showing a sulian disregard for the opinion of the neighborhood society which invariably met at the church at the end of each week.

While this was greatly in her favor in the sight of the white people of Martintville, it only grew faster to the reverse with the color of the locality. But Chester Sylva had sense enough to know that her position was a safe one. The good women of the community appreciated her services. She was a useful, steady machine, and her services didn't end with this, for she was equally valuable in the garden or yard.

The young ladies of the section found her handy in posting letters and doing various and sundry errands. Serviceable rewards were given her from time to time, and among them

Before the sun had set Chester Sylva was on the road back home. She, like Fado, now had experience. She grew weary and worn with her long travel. Her shoes had been discarded, her dress was tucked up, and her plain straw hat seemed a burden.

At last she reached the old familiar scene. "Lord," she said, "if I could only see a light in Miss Daisy's room, so I could get something to eat. I'm near on starvin'." Glory, day it is! I'm going to run."

"Miss Daisy, 'em niggers is crazy. When I gives another cent to 'em, I'll die dead 'sho." They thinks they're grand, and here it's de poor country nigger dat does 'em 'all."

There were two weddings in Martintville soon after, and down on the Georgia farm Fado and Chester Sylva now held a position which would not be given to the first-honor graduates of Paines Institute—Country Gentlemen.

Got His Victim's Estate.

"There was a typical wild west character at Coto Pazi, Col., in 1879, called 'Gold Tom,' said W. K. Johnson, of Denver, the copper mine operator, 'who died with his boots on, and there by hangs a remarkable incident. He was the terror of the camp and had shot several men and run others away that he did not take a liking to at the point of his gun. One morning he started early on a bull-dog expedition, and a little fellow whom he was hounding got the drop on him right quick and sent him over the 'great divide.' He had accumulated stakes and other property of the value of several thousand dollars. He was known only as 'Gold Tom.' No one knew his real name, where he came from or of any relatives. What was to become of his property? There's where the singular part of the story comes in. The fellow who did the killing sent the estate of 'Gold Tom' for damages, compelling him to do the shooting and got the property." Cincinnati Enquirer.

Lived Up to His Contract.

Fifty years ago an Indiana man, then 45 years old, planted an acorn from which to grow a tree to build his 'o' f'n of. The tree grew slowly, and, of course, the man couldn't afford to die until he made a coffin out of that tree. Luckily he had it cut and sawn into planks and has manufactured his box and has it ready for use.

but he wanted to know how'd 'er look, an' I tol' him he w'd 'a' got 'a' f'n, and he say 'yes, an' he's goin' to come nex' day, too.'"

Over at Mrs. Lankin Brown's Chester Sylva had voluntarily told Harmon everything about Miss Daisy's talks, and had likewise said she'd never tell of him.

Maybe Chester Sylva's life would have been uneventful if it had not been for Fado, a negro youth who lived on an adjoining farm. Fado started out early in life to make a career, succeeded in stealing a shipwreck on the railroad, and when he came back received the plaudits of all his companions. His glory was short-lived, for in a few days he started to steal a ride to Atlanta, 150 miles away, but before he had traveled ten miles on the journey the conductor had knocked him off the train while going 40 miles an hour, and at the next station a telegram went back telling the next train to pick up the negro lying beside the track of No. 21.

As soon as Fado could travel, he came back to the farm, but he had lost his glory and nobody would look at him, except Chester Sylva. He called her Chester, just as Miss Daisy did, and in time he grew to be a good worker, but by his earnings he saved enough to buy an occasional present for Chester Sylva.

One night, in the fall of the year, there came a big preacher from the city, who was to tell the negroes the way to act. Cotton picking had been in progress, and Fado had made enough to buy a new suit of clothes, so he persuaded Chester to go to meet him.

When the preacher began to preach, he said, "What's Paines?" she asked, simply. "Paines?" he blurted the preacher. "Paines? Why it's the college in Atlanta to educate niggers like you," and Chester Sylva was so excited that she put down 50 cents for Paines.

Saved His Life.

J. W. Davenport, Wingo, Ky., writes, June 14, 1902: "I want to tell you I believe Ballard's Snow Liniment saved my life. I was under the treatment of two doctors, and they told me one of my lungs was entirely gone, and the other badly affected. I also had a lump on my side. I don't think that I could have lived over two months longer. I was induced by a friend to try Ballard's Snow Liniment. It gave me great relief, two fifty cent bottles cured me sound and well. It is a wonderful medicine and I recommend it to suffering humanity. Sold by Cook & Higgins.

WHY BUCK'S HOT BLAST

Heater Will Actually Pay For Itself.

Because Buck's Hot Blast will produce as much heat and as satisfactory a fire in every way, by using the cheapest dollar and a quarter coal, slack or screenings, as other heaters in which you must use high grade soft coal or hard coal. You can see at a glance how soon this saving in fuel will make a Buck's Hot Blast actually pay for itself. It is not the first cost of stove that counts so much, it is what you have to pay to feed it, in coal.

This is the "Buck's Stove."

LEARNING A LESSON.

A soft wind blew the clouds above our heads across to the hills of Ore, which lay to the north on our port beam. I stood on the starboard side of the bridge, and the third officer came and joined me there.

"I had a letter from the owners at Ghy, George," he said. "We're to take a passenger at Port Said. She's going out to Singapore as a governess. She's a bit short of funds, but no people have some influence. That's why I get instructions to take her aboard. I know the sort of woman she is, and I want you to understand this one is under my protection."

"At Port Said Hoskins went ashore the captain. Her name was Mary Price, a pretty girl with a nice figure and black hair that curled about her temples and around her ears. All the way down the Red sea Hoskins dined with her and, to do her justice, she wasn't backward. At Perin's Island we slowed down and ran up a signal."

"What are we waiting for?" captain asked.

"A new second engineer," Hoskins said.

"He was an under-sized, hateful-faced man. With a word of greeting he turned out to his quarters. Next time I saw him he wore a dirty blue shirt open at the neck and chest, and a pair of blue trousers turned up above the knees. He had on a pair of tennis shoes. He was unshaven, and was chewing a piece of cotton wad."

"And your going on it, too," he answered.

"Well, he said, 'now that you are here, aren't you going to give me a kiss?'"

"I don't think I ought to," she said, shyly, with a glance at Hoskins. "Before the captain, I mean."

"Quite right," said Hoskins, firmly. "I don't allow my officers to kiss girls in my presence. Some of 'em wouldn't know where to stop."

"I'm off duty," said Wilson, "and this is the girl I'm engaged to. I haven't seen her for a month, and now I'm going to have a kiss. If you don't like it, captain, you'd better turn your back. I don't want to hurt your feelings."

"Now, then, Mary," said the engineer, "I'm waiting."

She waited a minute, and then made a little sort of puckering kiss at him. Then she ran forward and Wilson, as if satisfied, turned and went into his cabin.

An Inspired Idiot.

Reuben Fields, the Johnson county mathematician, who is considered by many to be an idiotic wonder, stopped at a hotel in a small town in Henry county recently. As usual in such places, there were a number of drummers on hand; there was also a meeting of some medical men at the place who used the hotel as headquarters. One of the doctors thought it would be quite a joke to tell Fields that some of the M. D.'s had concluded to kidnap him and take out his brains to learn how it was he was so good in mathematics. He was then asked by them what he was going to do about it. Fields replied: "I will go on without brains, just like you doctors are doing."—Oak Grove (Mo.) Banner.

ARE YOU WRETCHED IN BAD WEATHER?

Keeping the Kidneys Well Has Kept Many Hopkinstown People Well.

Many Hopkinstown people find that bad weather brings on a dull pain in the back, or rheumatic aching, neuralgia, nervousness, irritability and weakness. If, when you get wet or take cold, it 'settles on the kidneys' and there is a shivery, chilly sensation in the back, it shows kidney weakness, which is often the beginning of disease. Doan's Kidney Pills should be used persistently until the chilly feeling is gone and the flow of urine is natural. Doan's Kidney Pills have saved Hopkinstown people much suffering.

Wm. C. Davis, cooper, of No. 693 North Main street, says: "A dull boring down pain across my kidneys and through the small of my back made it so painful for me to stoop or lift anything that I was unable to do any work or to have any pleasure. Whenever I took cold it settled in my back and at night bothered me a great deal while lying in bed. Sharp twinges often kept me awake for hours and in the morning I awoke feeling tired and devoid of all energy and ambition. Finally I happened to read an advertisement of Doan's Kidney Pills, and as they were highly recommended by people near by, I could not help but believe that they were a good remedy. I got a box at Thomas & Trahern's drug store, and after using them a few days I could see a decided improvement. I kept on with the treatment, and the pains in my back left me entirely and the action of the kidneys was restored to a normal and healthy condition."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

THE COUNTY CAMPAIGN.

With the election only ten days off, it is now conceded on all hands that the result, so far as the county ticket is concerned, is in great doubt.

Democrats are confident of success for their anti-ring ticket, and some very prominent Republicans openly admit that a "split ticket" will be the outcome. Both parties have taken poles of the county and the ring ticket is thoroughly secured and the Democrats greatly encouraged. The Republican majority is not nearly so large as it has been claimed. Under normal conditions there are about 4,000 Republicans in the county, but at least 25 per cent. of them are opposed to hereditary ring rule in the county and the returns from some strong Republican districts are going to be eye-openers to the ringsters. Party lines seem to be practically wiped out. Indeed, at least one of the ring candidates whose defeat seems surest, is hanging on by his eye-brows and hoping against hope that his Democratic friends will save him.

For the first time in years "money is talking" for the Democratic ticket. By this time next week the betting will be in favor of the Democratic ticket. The entire Democratic ticket will win, unless Democrats stay away from the polls. One thing is certain—the Republicans are going to do their part in defeating ring rule.

All over the county the Democrats are well organized and inspired with hope. They say they are going to vote and see that their neighbors vote. If they do this, it is all over but the shouting.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

LOCAL POINTERS.

Somebody remark that yesterday was show or day.

Probably the tobacco growers have more to be thankful for this section than almost anybody else.

Nov. 24th will be the fifth anniversary of the biggest rise in Little River ever known.

The new bank will use three rooms in the Phoenix building. The floors of rooms two and three will be brought to a level with the corner room.

The electric railway franchise was sold on the 19th day of September. The purchaser yet has nearly sixty days to begin work.

And now Pembroke wants a tobacco warehouse. What the people of that enterprising little city want they generally get.

The popularity of the Turban hat was clearly proven to the writer one day this week. Eleven ladies out of fourteen, passing a given point, and wearing new hats, had selected the Turban.

We are not yet prepared to give out what the biggest thing that ever struck the town will be. We are still hoping. If it doesn't materialize soon we will tell what it ought to be.

Nobody complained of dust yesterday. The circus people would have rejoiced to see it, as they had nothing but sand and rain the day before at Clarksville.

The first of the Tabernacle entertainments will be given November 10th. Manager McPherson says the people are subscribing liberally, but to give the attractions in view he will have to sell more tickets than last season.

Ringling Brothers' circus surely is the favorite in Hopkinsville. As an evidence when the children were let out of the public schools Tuesday they were told that they need not return until Thursday morning.

The cashier of one of our local banks says the Styvesant Fish was in town last week and there wasn't water enough in the river to hold him. If he had been here Nov. 24th five years ago, he would have had plenty of water to swim in.

The best evidence of the prosperity of a town is the refusal of property owners to dispose of their real estate in the business portion of the town. The Elks would have preferred to locate their permanent home on Main street, but the purchase of a building on Main street, at this time, is almost an impossibility.

The production of "The Fortune Teller" at the opera house Tuesday night was entirely satisfactory and very pleasing and entertaining to the large and appreciative audience that witnessed it. The large crowd present, considering it was such a bad night, is evidence that our people appreciate Manager Ennis' efforts to secure first-class attractions.

Last Hope Vanished.

When leading physicians said that W. M. Smithard, of Peñon, Ia., had incurable consumption, his last hope vanished; but Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds, kept him out of his grave. He says: "This great specific completely cured me, and saved my life. Since then, I have used it for over ten years, and consider it a marvelous throat and lung cure." Strictly scientific cure for Coughs, Sore throats or Colds; sure preventive of Pneumonia, guaranteed, 50c and $1.00 bottles at R. C. Hardwick's drug store. Trial bottle free.

SECOND DISTRICT'S CONGRESSMAN.

In introducing Congressman Stanley before the tobacco growers' meeting at Owensboro, Hon. W. T. Ellis concluded with the statement that "Mr. Stanley is the Second District's present congressman, its next congressman and its congressman for lifetime, if he chooses." The sentiments expressed by Mr. Ellis reflect fully the views of the Gleaner. About a year ago the Gleaner published an editorial along the lines that the people of the Second district had always made a mistake in changing their representatives in congress so frequently.

For quite a long time after the writer had knowledge of politics of this district the people were largely of the opinion that two terms were sufficient for their congressman, and that it was due that they should favor some other gentleman with the honor.

The opinion has been steadily growing, however, that while it might be a nice thing to hand the position around to favorite and no doubt the worthy sons, the best interests of the people were not being conserved by such a policy—that the people owed a duty to themselves to be as well represented in Congress possible and the best way to secure such a result is to keep their congressman there so long as he manifests the desire and the ability to do his duty and to grow in that position. The people owe nothing to anybody as a favor, but they owe it to themselves to do what is best for themselves and they have about concluded that the best thing they can do for themselves is to lengthen the tenure of the service of their representative in congress.

The writer confesses that at the outset of Mr. Stanley's career at Henderson, he had serious doubts as to the ultimate outcome. But Mr. Stanley has developed more than any man in this end of Kentucky during the past few years. This development has been along lines that are to be commended and admired. His ability must be admitted by all. His honesty and integrity as a public servant cannot be questioned. He is yet young in his manhood's prime, with the broad expanse of a great future before him. So far in his career he has more than justified the expectations of his warmest friends and has thoroughly satisfied those who have reposed a position of great trust in his hands.

All that Stanley has to do is to sit steady in the saddle, be true to the people as he has been, continue to expand and broaden as he has during the past few years, and the people of the Second district will have use for him for many years to come.

A good many voters are liable to lose their votes by not taking care of their registration certificates. There are more than 2,000 of these certificates held by voters and it would be very unusual if some of them did not misplace the valuable receipts. Better put it in some safe place at your place of business. You will have to take it with you when you go to vote and if you do not produce it you cannot vote. A voter who has lost his certificates and is willing to go before the county clerk and swear that he has lost it, can by paying 50 cents, get a duplicate.

If he knows where it is and swears he has lost it he will have to perjure himself to get a duplicate. In the last election, the Republicans had workers at the registration polls to gather up certificates and "take care of them," in some places, but this year the work, if it is being done at all, is not being so openly prosecuted. It may be that the voters have learned how to take care of their own certificates.

The Presidential party was in Mobile Tuesday, in Montgomery yesterday and will be in New Orleans today. Everywhere the highest honor is being shown President Roosevelt.

El Haag Pacha, an envoy of King Menelik, of Abyssinia, arrived in New York this week, on his way to see President Roosevelt. In an interview he stated that he left behind him 3,000 slaves and 1,000 wives.

A sanitarium for the treatment of consumption is to be established on the outskirts of Louisville. It will cost $50,000.

A JUDGE'S WIFE

CURED OF PELVIC CATARRH

MRS. MINNIE E. McALLISTER.

She Suffered For Years and Doctors Failed to Give Relief—Cured by Pe-ru-na.

Mrs. MINNIE E. McALLISTER, wife of Judge McAllister of Minneapolis, Minn., and Chaplain Loyal Mystic Legion of America, writes: "I suffered for years with catarrh in the seat of my back and right side. It interfered often with my domestic and social duties and I never supposed that I would be missed, as the doctor's medicine did not seem to help me any."

"Fortunately a member of our Order advised me to try Peruna and gave it such high praise that I decided to try it. Although I started in with little faith, I felt so much better in a week that I felt encouraged."

"I took it faithfully for seven weeks and am happy indeed to be able to say that I am entirely cured. I would like to express my gratitude. Perfect health once more is the best thing I could wish for, and thanks to Peruna I enjoy that now."—Minnie E. McAllister.

Mrs. Esther M. Milnes, of Great Falls, writes: "I was a terrible sufferer from pelvic weakness and had the headache continuously. I was not able to do my housework for myself and husband. I wrote you and described my condition and as possible. You recommended Peruna. I took four bottles and was completely cured. I think Peruna a wonderful medicine."—Mrs. Esther M. Milnes.

Congressman Thad. M. Mahon, of Chambersburg, Pa., writes: "I take pleasure in commending your Peruna as a subliminal tonic and a good catarrh remedy."—T. M. Mahon.

Pe-ru-na Contains No Narcotics.

One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotics of any kind. Peruna is perfectly harmless. It can be used any length of time without acquiring a drug habit. Peruna does not produce temporary results. It is permanent in its effect.

As a tonic and nerve invigorator Peruna has no equal. It has no bad effect upon the system, and gradually eliminates catarrh by removing the cause of catarrh. There is a multitude of homes where Peruna has been used off and on for twenty years. Such a thing could not be possible if Peruna contained any drug of a narcotic nature.

Light on Female Diseases.

What used to be called female diseases by the medical profession is now called pelvic catarrh. It has been found by experience that catarrhal diseases of the pelvic organs are the cause of most cases of female diseases.

Dr. Hartman was among the first of America's greatest physicians to make this discovery. For forty years he has been treating diseases peculiar to women and long ago he reached the conclusion that a woman entirely free from catarrhal affection of these organs would not be subject to female diseases. He, therefore, began using Peruna for these cases and found it so admirably adapted to their permanent cure that Peruna has now become the most famous remedy for female diseases ever known. Everywhere the women are using it and praising it. Peruna is not a palliative simply; it cures by removing the cause of female diseases.

Peruna builds up the nerves and restores the appetite and digestion.

Dr. Hartman has probably cured more women of female ailments than any other living physician. He makes these cures simply by using and recommending Peruna.

Facts About Syringes.

There are two facts to keep in mind when buying a syringe:

I. Get one that can be depended upon—one with the last improvements.

II. Syringes rot out often than they wear out. Get one that will last—one made of pure rubber.

We have syringes that will satisfy you in both respects. They are made from pure Paso Rubber; are fitted with all the latest attachments and are guaranteed to be perfect, both in material and workmanship. Further, they will cost you no more than the inferior kinds.

BAD DAY FOR CIRCUS.

Rain Yesterday Kept Large Crowd From City.

Yesterday was the worst day for a circus here since John Robinson's shows visited the city in 1882. The rain that began to fall Monday night continued until yesterday afternoon, at times coming down in torrents. The crowd from the county was small, the different trains brought in a large number of people though. The circus didn't get through unloading until near 12 o'clock and there was no parade. The show people were all tired and the horses were covered with mud. It was 11 o'clock before the show people got their breakfast. On account of the rain at Clarksville the attendance was so small there that the day was a losing one. The attendance here was so light that the company lost greatly again.

The branch ticket office at Anderson & Fowler's proved a great convenience to the people.

One of the large wagons got stuck in the mud in Sharp's field, near the show ground, and 18 horses were required to pull it out.

Ringling Brothers are independent, not belonging to the trust, which has cut out street parades, but they are not rain proof.

There were only 28 of the 40 large elephants advertised seen here. They had 12 camels and 4 zebras.

The bad weather kept many thousands of dollars in the pockets of the people of the county.

THE THEATRE

A Show That Always Pleases
The Public.

Miss Jule Foreman starring at the head of the Jule Foreman Comedy Company in "Cinderella" appears at Holland's opera house Nov. 1 and 2 and the theatre-goers of Hopkinsville are promised one of the cleverest musical comedy productions ever offered here. Miss Foreman is a prima donna of note and her reputation is known from coast to coast. This will be her first tour under a Southern manager, for Mr. Alley is the Daviess county, where he will enter school.

Rev. H. C. Ford, of Nebo, returned from Crofton Friday where he conducted a successful revival meeting. At the close of the meeting twenty-two persons were baptized.

Next Attraction

Miss Charlotte Burnett who will appear in "The Honey-Moon", at Holland's Opera House, on Tuesday night, Oct. 31, is without doubt supported by the strongest cast of reputable artists leaving New York City.

It is seldom that Hopkinsville has an opportunity of witnessing a high class comedy with a recognized star supported by an all star cast, including George Sylvester, John E. MacGregor, G. H. Timmer, Miss Erin Lacy, Miss Caroline Bulow, Joseph Wilson, Marie Lambert and others, all of whom have won distinction with leading New York productions.

Manager Ennis should be congratulated and his efforts rewarded by liberal patronage in securing such a distinguished star as Miss Burnett. "The Honey-Moon", as a laugh producer stands pre-eminent as a play to please the people, and the public should avail itself of this opportunity of seeing one of the severest of young comedienne's, supported by an all star cast, in the choicest of all refined comedies, "The Honey-Moon."

WARNER IS STILL AT LARGE

Not a Word From the Noted Asylum
Patient.

MAY OFFER REWARD.

He Has Friends Everywhere
Who Would Assist Him to Escape.

Geo. B. Warner, the noted patient who escaped from the asylum Sunday night, is still at large. Not a word has been heard from him since his departure.

Warner has friends in the Union Labor party everywhere and will be a hard man to find and a desperate dangerous man to recapture, as he will have to be taken to the penitentiary for life whenever he becomes sane and he has never shown any signs of insanity since he was sent to the asylum last June. A reward will likely be offered for his capture.

SERIOUS STRIKE.

Trouble With Union Labor
at Sturgis.

The union miners' strike at Sturgis is assuming a serious phase. The West Kentucky Coal Co. refuses longer to be unionized, and 400 men are out. Pinkerton guards have arrived in advance of a train-load of non-union miners and serious trouble is expected.

The November McClure's begins a new volume with the opening chapters of two great new series and a big Klipping story, which promise the magazine's continuance as torch-bearer in public affairs and the leader of excellence in present day literature. In this number Carl Schurz begins his "Reminiscences," the life story of a patriot-soldier-statesman-author, a fighting idealist who never compromised with his conscience. Ray Standard Baker, with "The Railroad Rate," opens his series of articles on the greatest national perplexity, the outcome of more than a year's digging into the most difficult subject American voters have ever had to master.

Coroner A. J. Dunn, of Henderson county, was stricken with paralysis this week and is in a hopeless condition.

In his swing through Alabama President Roosevelt made a short stop between meals at Tuskegee, Booker Washington's town.

Madison Cawein, the poet, has written a prose book, which he calls "Nature Studies."
